

PROJECT PROPOSAL

Salvador Corleto School Expansion

Las Sandias, Santa Rosa de Copán
HONDURAS

Overview

Earlier this year, professional athlete, Allex Austin, founder of non-profit Altitude Performance, which empowers underprivileged youth through holistic and athletic development, and collegiate preparation, hosted a sports camp in the rural village of Las Sandías, Honduras.

Las Sandías has a population of approximately 890 people, with more than half under the age of 18. Most families rely on subsistence farming, and access to resources such as education and healthcare is limited.

While delivering shoes and soccer balls at the sports camp he held, Allex saw firsthand the challenges local children face at the school, and felt moved to do something about it.

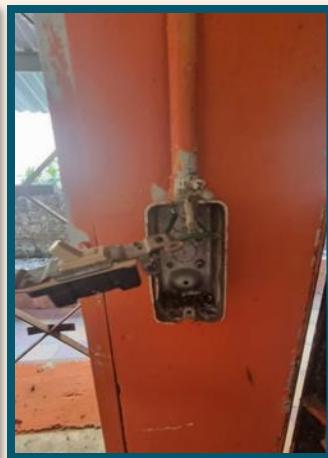

The school was built approximately 20 years ago, and consists of three buildings, a kindergarten, elementary (grades 1-6), and high school (grades 7-9), taught by a staff of 6 teachers.

The student population has increased significantly over the years, and the school is now faced with severe overcrowding. In addition, the facilities are severely deteriorated, due to a lack of funds for regular maintenance.

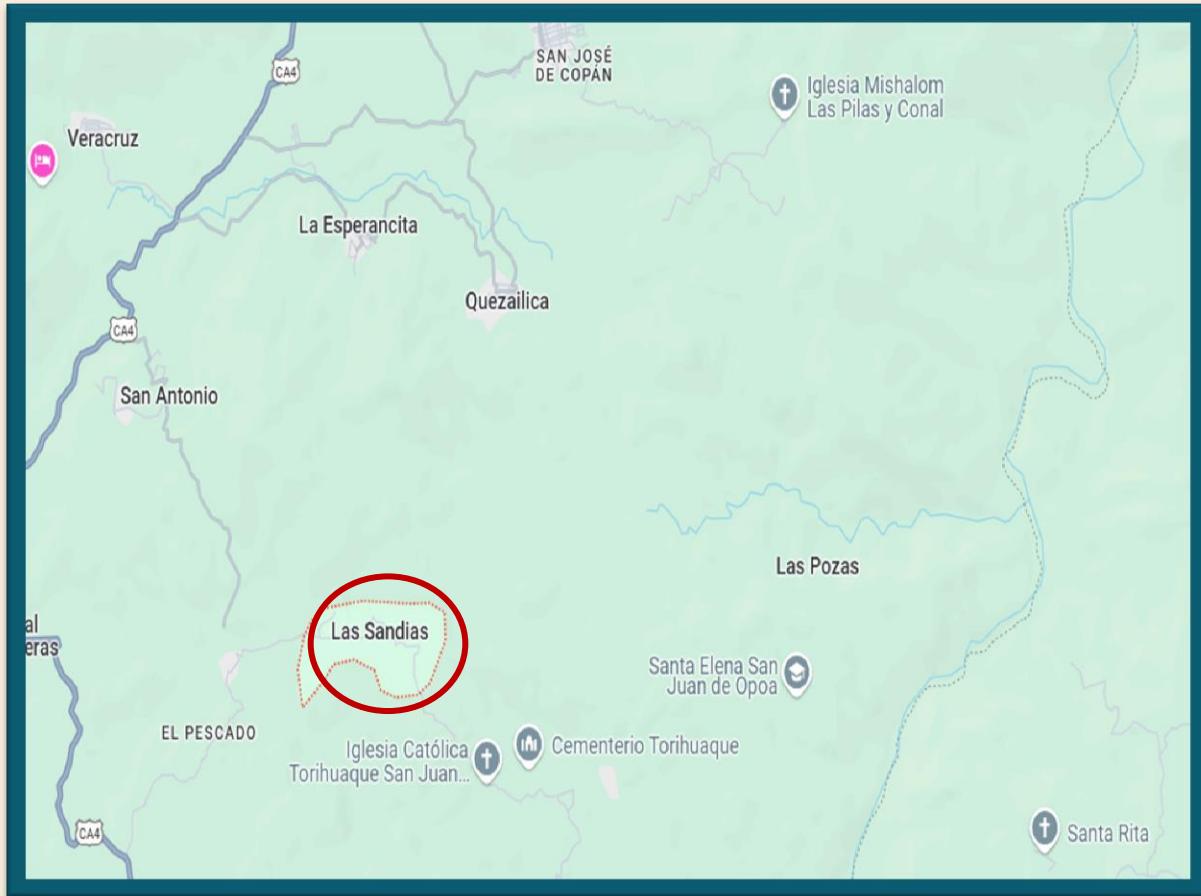

Many classrooms have cracked walls, and damaged windows and doors with broken locks, which compromise both the safety and overall functionality of the school. The electrical system is faulty, with limited lighting due to a lack of working fixtures. The restroom facilities are largely non-functional, posing a hygiene risk for the students. There is only one hand-washing sink on campus, and it is in poor condition, making it difficult for the children to maintain proper hygiene.

Most critically, the school does not have sufficient classrooms to serve the student population. This shortage of space makes it difficult to organize students effectively, and limits the quality of their educational experience.

Conditions at the school are deplorable

Project Snapshot

Global Humanitarian Mission understands the plight of Salvador Corleto School, and seeks your partnership in enhancing the educational experience for boys and girls at this remote school in Las Sandías, Honduras.

The Salvador Corleto School Expansion project is being established to provide a safe and comfortable learning environment that effectively meet the demands of an increasing student population.

The project will entail the following:

- Construction of a 3-classroom building with Aluzinc roof
- Electrical installations and interior lighting
- 6 gender-specific bathrooms, including
 - Ceramic tile walls and floor
 - Plumbing and sanitation systems
 - Fixtures
- Hand-washing station
- Stairway to the annexed primary school bathroom

150 students will benefit from this school expansion with a wholesome educational environment.

TOTAL COST: $106,517.90

The Plans

*"For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord,
"plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."* Jeremiah 29:11

3-Classroom building with bathroom

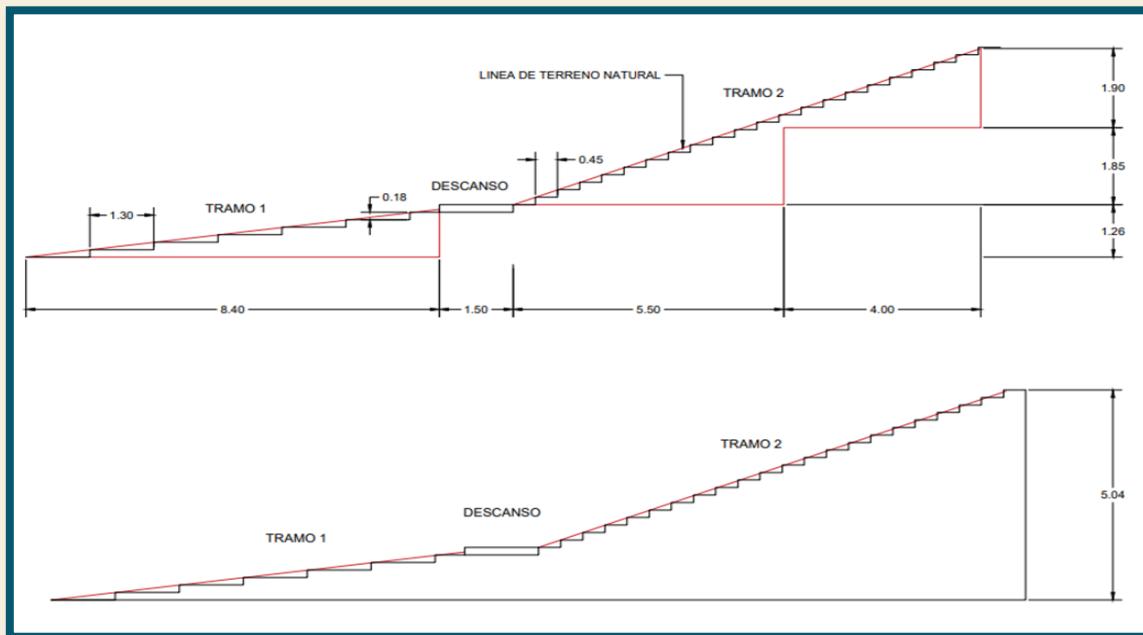

Build Them A Stairway

When the children want to use the restroom, they have to climb this hill to the annexed primary school facilities.

During the rainy season especially, a simple bathroom break can become quite treacherous!

Please! Let us build them a stairway so they can at least be safe when they need to take a bathroom break!

From Global Humanitarian Mission

Below are testimonies from Las Sandías residents, anxious for their children to have a nurturing space to receive their education.

This project offers just that - a school that's safe and welcoming, that's stimulating and nurturing - These are dreams that most students in developed regions are actually living.

Please! Let us make a difference for 150 underserved students.

Join us and provide a school building that will foster academic and personal excellence!

Alfonso, community board member, speaks on behalf of these community leaders, "I have worked extensively for the community, setting an example for others, and we continue to work for the community."

Carmelinda has this to say, "I'm recording this to express an urgent need in our community for the construction of our school. This is not a wish, it is a true necessity. For many years, we have dreamed of having a proper space."
